The Face of Fillmore is celebrating its third anniversary this week with a special thank you to all of the readers who have had such positive comments and encouragement, not to mention great information to share about homes and people in early Fillmore.

A very special thank you to LuDean Day for all of the information she has shared that was gathered years ago by the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers. Thank you to Carl Camp and Gordon Chatland for their expertise on the history of our town.

What began three years ago as an extension of the First Capitol Main Street Beautification Committee has turned into much more.

Early on, the purpose was to document the fact that Fillmore's residents were dedicated to preserving older homes and the historical flavor of our great community. This documentation would help with grants for improvements to Main Street. A thank you to Deaun Bean for coming up with the idea of newspaper articles and even the name of the column to help with this project.

The Face of Fillmore is no longer just a biweekly newspaper column to aid the committee. It has become a huge part of my life and has introduced me to several interesting people whom I have enjoyed visiting with. It has also given me a great outlet for my love of writing.

The Face of Fillmore is ever changing. Have you noticed the latest addition to our light poles? Directional signs that point out important buildings in town have been attached to the posts. Their old town look is a great help to visitors trying to find their way. These signs were paid for by one of the grants and were designed by Steve Robison.

Bright orange cones with the sidewalk mark the spots where cement work is being completed and new donated benches will soon be placed.

Take a close look at our great town and watch as individuals and volunteer groups continue to make improvements for us all to enjoy.
