

The Face of Fillmore

The Face of Fillmore this week looks with excitement at the block between Center Street and First South on Fillmore's Main Street. The planning and work done by the First Capitol Beautification Committee under the direction of Deaun Bean has taken another step toward its goal.

This week crews from Fillmore City, Ross Cummings, John Mitchell, Matt Haupt, and Kelly Jo Bennett, hung baskets of petunias from the new lamp posts on Main Street. American flags will be added to commemorate our nation's birthday, as well as a decorative banner celebrating Fillmore's history with a picture of the Territorial Statehouse.

A drive down this block and a vision for more blocks in each direction in the future makes one proud to be part of this community.

In a recent newspaper story in the Deseret Morning News, there was a quote from Margaret Mead about volunteers. I could not help but recall it as I compared the difference in the appearance of the other blocks on Main Street with this center block and its wonderful improvements.

"Never doubt what a small group of thoughtful, committee citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has."
